

Over the years, I have realized that the myopia and, often, cruelty, with which many of us approach our deaf babies is not a result of stupidity or any conscious evil, but a lack of imagination. My presentations, especially in small groups, are purposely designed to facilitate imagination and discussion in order to provoke and/or increase empathy. Power Point presentations are very much like television and usually make audiences passive, discouraging imagination and critical thinking.

--- Susan Schaller